Italy is the largest wine producer in the world. There is a great variety and style of wines in the country, and among its red wines are some of the best and most well-known labels. This is due to the great diversity of grapes produced, such as the remarkable Nebbiolo, used in the production of Barolo, and the famous Primitivo, from the Puglia region.

The rosé wines from Italy offer a wide range of hues: from light salmon to an intense cherry pink. The diversity of flavors ranges from smooth and fruity to rich and full-bodied. These delicious wines are produced in various regions of the country such as Piedmont, Veneto, Tuscany, and Puglia.

Italian sparkling wines, or spumanti, are famous for their freshness and are quite diverse.

The most famous, Asti, is highly perfumed with notes of pear and nectarine, perfect accompaniment for desserts, sweets and white chocolate.
